Hey Joan - Just wanted to send a report on the comfort trainer. I needed help when I took my housemate's dog Rocket out for a walk. Rocket is a sweet girl, but she's the worst puller and darter I've ever seen on a leash, and I've wound up with an aching shoulder every time I take her out. Plus she's just a danger to herself and a general aggravation. Anyway, I got the comfort trainer, tried it on her a couple times in the house, then decided to solo with it - I was worned that it wouldn't be strong enough to hold her. But I was just amazed! She didn't pull at all, and was very responsive to any direction change I made. It's like she's a new dog! And of course she's happier because she's not being yanked by the collar any more. I'm still awaiting the big test - when she sees a cat or squirrel and decides to go efter it, but I am really impressed so far!
